"The future of metal is safe with these guys." – Overdrive

Deified are a five-piece metal band from just outside Liverpool in the Northwest of England, UK. The band formed in late 2013 and as early as May 2014, Deified headlined their debut gig at The Lomax in Liverpool and soon after went on to play many more gigs, one of the highlights of the year being a slot on mainstage at Out Of The Ashes Festival.

2015 was a busy year for Deified; in April, they released a video for their track 'No Solitude' and then later on won the Liverpool final of the Metal 2 The Masses competition to win a coveted slot at Bloodstock Festival in August.

This festival appearance immediately catapulted the band into a summer / autumn UK tour where they played over 30 shows all over the country.

December 2015, Deified released their debut album 'Ascension' which was entirely self-produced, the album gained some fantastic reviews which helped keep the band on everyone's radar, eventually securing themselves a slot in 2016 supporting Exodus.

ALBUM REVIEWS:

"Deified is the resultant offspring of one wild night between Lamb of God and Slayer." – Into The Void music reviews

2016 is shaping up to be a very exciting year for the band. Deified came third out of 425 bands across the globe in the TBFM factor. They have also secured themselves the last available slot for SOPHIE Fest Coventry due to winning the public vote and will also be the showcase band at MMC Manchester, once more due to winning a public vote.

LIVE REVIEWS:

“Supporting two greats of the genre is not easy, especially when one of them is Exodus but Deified more than held their own as they performed at the O2 Academy.” – Liverpool sound and vision
